MODEL

The McLaren F1 GTR was a racing variant of the McLaren F1 sports car first produced in 1995 for GT racing. Though Gordon Murray, creator of the F1, originally saw his creation as the ultimate road car, he was eventually convinced to modify the F1 into a racing car for the upcoming 1995 season. A total of nine chassis would be built for that season, and because of the similarities to a race car no extensive modifications were needed. With three top 10 finishes and an overall victory at that year's 24 Hours of Le Mans, the McLaren F1 GTR began a legacy that would endure a decade on the track, and an eternity in racing history.

Mercedes-Benz 600 Landaulet, 1965
Pope Paul VI
TSM124352

Based on a 1965 Mercedes-Benz 600 Pullman landaulet, this particular popemobile includes a number of features installed especially for Pope Paul VI, including an elevated roof, a seat for the pontiff that could be raised for maximum viewing, extended doors and bulletproof glass. It remained in use at the Vatican (wearing the same SCV 1 license plate that has adorned all papal vehicles and popemobiles) through 1985, when Pope John Paul II returned it to Mercedes-Benz, which has kept it in the company's museum collection in Stuttgart since then.
